

WEB101 Prework

Lab 0

COP3834

 Student Name: David Alcantara

 Email: dalcantara2023@fau.edu

Submission Checklist

 Check off each of the features you have completed. You will only be graded on the features you check off.

- ☒ ~~Question #1 answered below (all 3 subquestions with minimum word count)~~
- ☒ ~~Question #2 answered below (all 3 subquestions with minimum word count)~~
- ☒ Wireframe

Individual Brainstorm

 Question #1: Describe your website subject in detail:

What do you already know about your social impact topic? (50+ words)

I have a sufficient understanding of my social impact topic. What I know about this topic is the importance of empathy and communication between opposing perspectives in important social/political conversations. Giving people the ability to understand each others personal perspectives and situations allow us to ultimately understand each other, building a community based on understanding.

What do you still need to find out about your social impact topic in order to create a meaningful website? (20+ words)

The concept seems pretty straightforward, I think that a clear understanding of productive conversation is a great start at understanding what I want the website to do. Understanding the foundations of progressive conversation and applying that to the website is a great strategy.

Who are the stakeholders involved with/affected by your social impact topic? ie children, people living in cities, politicians, CEOs, female-identifying persons (20+ words)

I think the general population is affected or can be a "stakeholder" in this project. People involved in politics or the current social climate would be interested in this application. This application will show off the values that people hold when it comes to social change.

? Question #2: Describe your proposed website in detail:

What is the purpose of your website? (30+ words)

To inform and help create safe dialogue between people that hold similar/ different points of views on specific social/political topics that affect their day to day. The information to help people learn to have conversations with each other to come to resolutions on sensitive and important topics.

Who is your intended user? (30+ words)

Intended users would be politicians, political science majors, and social advocates. This is because allowing lenses to open fosters progressive conversations and solutions to issues that may be sensitive to a larger population. So these social topics can be dealt with that aren't always so black and white and people can learn to have conversations.

How will your user interact with your website? (30+ words)

The users will interact with the website by being able to view different articles that explain how to communicate with others. Each page will have its own article and explanation on talking points, human psychology and how to converse about sensitive political topics.

Wireframe

? When creating your wireframe, ask yourself:

- What about your topic do you want shared on your website?
- How do you want your content and website structured?

? Copy/Paste a screenshot of your wireframe or a link to it below (if using a link, make sure it is publicly viewable).

HomeExploreCommunityShareDialogueContactSign inRegister

OpenLens

Building Connections Between Different Perspectives

Share Your StoryExplore Talking Points

First Two Image boxes will display out Mission statement in one of them and the second image box will show a featured story or dialogue

Discover Conversations:

Participate In Ongoing Conversations

Article 1:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

Article 2:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

Article 3:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

Article 4:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

Article 5:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

Article 6:

Articles on talking points and
having progressive conversations.

